Dear Prospective Student,

Thank you for visiting The Juilliard School's website, and Juilliard's Construction page! As you begin your journey of finding the right school in which to pursue your advanced studies in dance, drama, or music, Juilliard is also on a journey. Our goal is to improve our facilities so that you, our future students, have the best performance, rehearsal and study resources to develop your talents and support your vision.

Over the next two years, The Juilliard School and Lincoln Center will be undergoing major renovations. At the conclusion of this work, Juilliard will have renovated more than 50,000 square feet of existing space, and have gained an additional 39,200 square feet, including:

- The Rosemary and Meredith Willson Theater - a black box theater with advanced technology for video and sound
- A large, two-story high, acoustically calibrated Orchestral Rehearsal Studio
- 6 new classrooms
- 14 new practice rooms
- A spacious Student Lounge with computer stations
- A dedicated Jazz Orchestra rehearsal room
- A new dance studio overlooking Broadway
- An innovative Writing and Communication Center
- A state-of-the-art music technology center
- A dedicated space for the Juilliard Manuscript Collection

Join us as we transform our campus by coming back to our Construction page often and following the links to updates on our progress. You may also be interested in visiting "Transforming Lincoln Center" at www.lincolncenter.org. And don't forget to register with us so that we can stay in touch with you about events, important dates and application information.

If you plan to visit New York City in the future, we invite you to tour the school or attend a concert while in town. We look forward to greeting you!

Sincerely,

Lee Cioppa
