Juilliard Performance Season Spring 2022

The school is alive with the excitement of in-person performances, and we invite you to join us as our season continues with more than 700 music, dance, and drama performances. You can witness the future of the performing arts in person in the heart of New York City, or from anywhere in the world via livestream.

Juilliard celebrates several milestone anniversaries this season. The Juilliard String Quartet—Areta Zhulla, Ronald Copes, Roger Tapping, and Astrid Schween—celebrates its 75th anniversary; Juilliard Dance, directed by Alicia Graf Mack, turns 70; Juilliard Jazz, directed by Wynton Marsalis, turns 20; and the Music Advancement Program (MAP), which serves students from diverse backgrounds underrepresented in the classical music field and is directed by Anthony McGill, marks its 30th year.

Visit juilliard.edu/calendar throughout the year for newly added concerts, livestreamed performances, and to get tickets. We look forward to welcoming you to our events—please save the date for our Juilliard Spring Gala on April 27!

Thank you for your support.
