Welcome to the 2020-21 Historical Performance season!

The Historical Performance movement began as a revolution: a reimagining of musical conventions, a rediscovery of instruments, techniques, and artworks that inspire and teach us, and a celebration of diversity in repertoire. It is also a conversation with the past, a past whose legacy of racism and colonialism has silenced and excluded too many voices from being heard. We do not seek simply to recreate what might have been, but to imagine what should be. We embrace Juilliard's values of equity, diversity, inclusion, and belonging, through voices heard anew and historical works presented with empathetic perspectives, and we reject discrimination, exclusion, and marginalization. We recognize that we study and work on the traditional homeland of those who preceded us (see Juilliard's land acknowledgment statement at Juilliard.edu). We are committed to collaborations with scholars and performers from a diverse range of viewpoints and backgrounds, and we seek to share the music we love so much in active engagement with the community around us. We invite you to laugh if you feel so moved, to clap whenever you feel inspired, and to find solace and joy in this music, as we continue the ongoing innovation of the Historical Performance movement. Thank you for joining us!

This performance is sponsored by Qobuz.

Additional support for this performance was provided, in part, by the Muriel Gluck Production Fund.

Juilliard’s full-scholarship Historical Performance program was established and endowed in 2008 by the generous support of Bruce and Suzie Kovner.

Juilliard’s livestream technology is made possible by a gift in honor of President Emeritus Joseph W. Polisi, building on his legacy of broadening Juilliard’s global reach.
Juilliard is committed to the diversity of our community and to fostering an environment that is inclusive, supportive, and welcoming to all. About Nicholas McGegan Nicholas McGegan has dedicated five decades to conducting. The 2019-20 season marked the end of his 34-year tenure as music director of Philharmonia Baroque Orchestra and Chorale, for which he is now music director laureate. He is principal guest conductor of the Pasadena Symphony and Hungary’s Capella Savaria. McGegan’s approach—intelligent, infused with joy, and never dogmatic—has led to appearances with many of the world’s major orchestras, including those in Cleveland, Chicago, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Hong Kong, and Sydney as well as the Royal Concertgebouw, and regular collaboration with choreographer Mark Morris on numerous projects. His discography includes more than 100 releases spanning five decades, including more than 40 with Philharmonia Baroque and Chorale, and close to 20 with Capella Savaria, which appointed him principal guest conductor for life. He was made an Officer of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire (OBE) “for services to music overseas.” McGegan is committed to the next generation of musicians, frequently conducting and coaching students in regular engagements at Juilliard, Yale, Harvard, the Colburn School, Aspen Music Festival, and more.

Juilliard415

Since its founding in 2009, Juilliard415, the school’s principal period-instrument ensemble, has made significant contributions to musical life in New York and beyond, bringing major figures in the field of early music to lead performances of both rare and canonical works by composers of the 17th and 18th centuries. The many distinguished guests who have led Juilliard415 include Harry Bicket, William Christie, Monica Huggett, Nicholas McGegan, Rachel Podger, and Jordi Savall. Juilliard415 tours extensively in the U.S. and abroad, having performed on five continents, with notable appearances at the Boston Early Music Festival, Leipzig Bachfest, and Utrecht Early Music Festival, where Juilliard was the first-ever conservatory in residence. Juilliard415 made its South American debut with concerts in Bolivia, a tour sponsored by the U.S. Department of State, and has twice toured to New Zealand.

With its frequent musical collaborator the Yale Institute of Sacred Music, the ensemble has performed throughout Scandinavia, Italy, Japan, Southeast Asia, the U.K., and India. In a concert with the Bach Collegium Japan, conducted by Masaaki Suzuki, Juilliard415 played a historic period-instrument performance of Mendelssohn’s Elijah at the Leipzig Gewandhaus in Germany. Previous seasons have been notable for side-by-side collaborations with Les Arts Florissants at the Philharmonie de Paris and the Philharmonia Baroque in San Francisco as well as concerts directed by such eminent musicians as Ton Koopman, Kristian Bezuidenhout, Robert Mealy, and the late Christopher Hogwood.

Juilliard415, which takes its name from the pitch commonly associated with the performance of baroque music (A=415), has performed major oratorios and baroque operas every year since its founding, including a rare fully staged production of Rameau’s Hippolyte et Aricie during the 2017-18 season. During the 2018-19 season, the ensemble presented Purcell’s Dido and Aeneas at Opera Holland Park in London and the Royal Opera House of Versailles. The ensemble has also had the distinction of premiering new works for period instruments, most recently The Seven Last Words Project, a Holy Week concert at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine for which the ensemble commissioned seven leading composers, including Nico Muhly, Caroline Shaw, and Tania León.

While the 2020-21 season has curtailed touring and public performances, Juilliard415 has been able to collaborate with distinguished guest artists Rachel Podger, Nicholas McGegan, and Kristian Bezuidenhout and is featured in a made-for-video production of Handel’s Teseo.

The ensemble looks forward to resuming its full slate of activity in 2021-22, including a collaboration with Philharmonia Baroque in California, concerts in New York, Boston, and the Netherlands with the Royal Conservatoire of The Hague, and performances throughout Germany with the Yale Institute of Sacred Music. Next season also sees the return of Pablo Heras-Casado, Masaaki Suzuki, and William Christie as well as the New York debut of Elisa Citterio.
