11:00 Active Bystander Intervention Workshop

We often talk about being an active bystander, but this workshop will delve into scenario work and practical application to intervene in difficult situations and to fight against decision paralysis.

12:30 Lunch by Themed Table

The Impact of Unconscious Bias
Everyone has unconscious biases, but how does it impact your daily interactions? Family, entertainment, and social media all play a role in how we form these biases, so how do we unlearn them?

The Hidden Stress of Growing Up as a Child of Immigrants
Studies show that growing up as a child of immigrants often has common stressors, regardless of the country of origin. Let's discuss the impact of these stressors and how to find support.

Low Income Student College Experiences
What does the college experience look like from a low income student’s perspective? This table will examine the hidden costs in higher education beyond tuition.

Political Statements on Social Media
How accountable should you be about political statements on your personal social media accounts? From professional athletes, politicians, to performers, social media accounts have been under higher scrutiny.

1:30 Intersectionality: Balancing Dominant and Subordinated Identities

Is it possible for marginalized groups to discriminate against others? Let’s explore how different marginalized identities intersect.

3:00 The Bechdel Test & The Russo Test

The Bechdel Test measures the representation of women in fiction based on if they can talk to each other about something other than a man. The new Russo Test aims to test the same thing but for the LGBTQIA+ community. How helpful are these tests?

Lunch will be Thai food!
